— MINISTRIES —

A Reflection by Jessica Dunn:

Past Participant, Staffer, and Now Group Leader

When you look back on different experiences, you can usually think of one word that describes that experience. However, as I reflect on this past week I can't think of one word. I feel like if I try to come up with one word, it's like putting this mission trip into a box and this experience goes far beyond any box.

AdventureServe has been a part of my life for ten years now - I'm 23 so that's almost half my life. I've been a freshman resident assistant for the past two years at Quincy University. My residents have heard me talk about this place and how God has touched me through it. This year, my floor has touched my heart, so I planned this mission trip to give them an opportunity in return for all they have inspired me to do. Every time I doubted this journey, God showed up reminding me time and time again that He had a plan.

For our missions trip the girls and I replaced the roof of Mrs Betty Miracle. Many of the girls have never done any home repair. A lot of them were in their yellow zone just stepping on ladder and being on the roof.

One night, at worship, the girls started opening up to share about their highs, lows, and growing areas. They shared how much they loved this experience in just one to two days with God stretching them. Seeing the girls being touched by the Holy Spirit, brought me to tears. The last time I was in this prayer chapel, I was leading my last mission trip and thought it was to be my last worship in this place. I cried then and I cried that night because of this experience I got to share with 15 other people that I love dearly.

Through the whole experience, I saw growth, teamwork, love, and a desire to know God as a friend. The following week I was able to facetime with my group of girls and what I saw was girls brought together by God's love. I saw a servant's heart in each of them. During our missions week seeds were planted and I get the honor of going back with this group to their community and watching and helping them grow. The journey doesn't stop after our week of serving. God knew what He was doing when He placed on the heart of 14 people to spend their spring break serving Jesus.
